

Trails make our communities healthy and walkable. But we need your help! Please join the effort in South Carolina by visiting www.palmettoconservation.org and learn how to join PCF.

PO Box 1984
Spartanburg, SC 29304

JOCASSE GORGES PASSAGE of the PALMETTO TRAIL

LENGTH: 12.5 miles

USE: Hiking

DIFFICULTY:
Moderate to difficult

DIRECTIONS
From Greenville:

Take US Hwy 25 North

Take US Hwy 276 West to SC Hwy 11

Follow SC Hwy 11 to

Table Rock State Park

The Palmetto Trail head is located at the barn.

RULES & PRECAUTIONS

Please practice Leave No Trace® philosophy. Pack out what you pack in.

Backcountry camping will be designated in the future. Check with South Carolina Department of Natural Resources.

Please stay on designated trails.

Motorized Vehicles are prohibited on this trail. If you see motorized vehicles or presence of them, please call DNR Law Enforcement at 1-800-922-5431.

Wear bright orange clothing during hunting season.

Do not park along US HWY 178.

Pack plenty of food and water.

Hunting occurs throughout the year within Jocassee Gorges. Please refer to the "South Carolina Rules & Regulation" by South Carolina Department of Natural Resources for dates. Visit www.dnr.state.sc.us. There is no Hunting in Table Rock State Park and Westeyan Camp.

IN ASSOCIATION WITH:

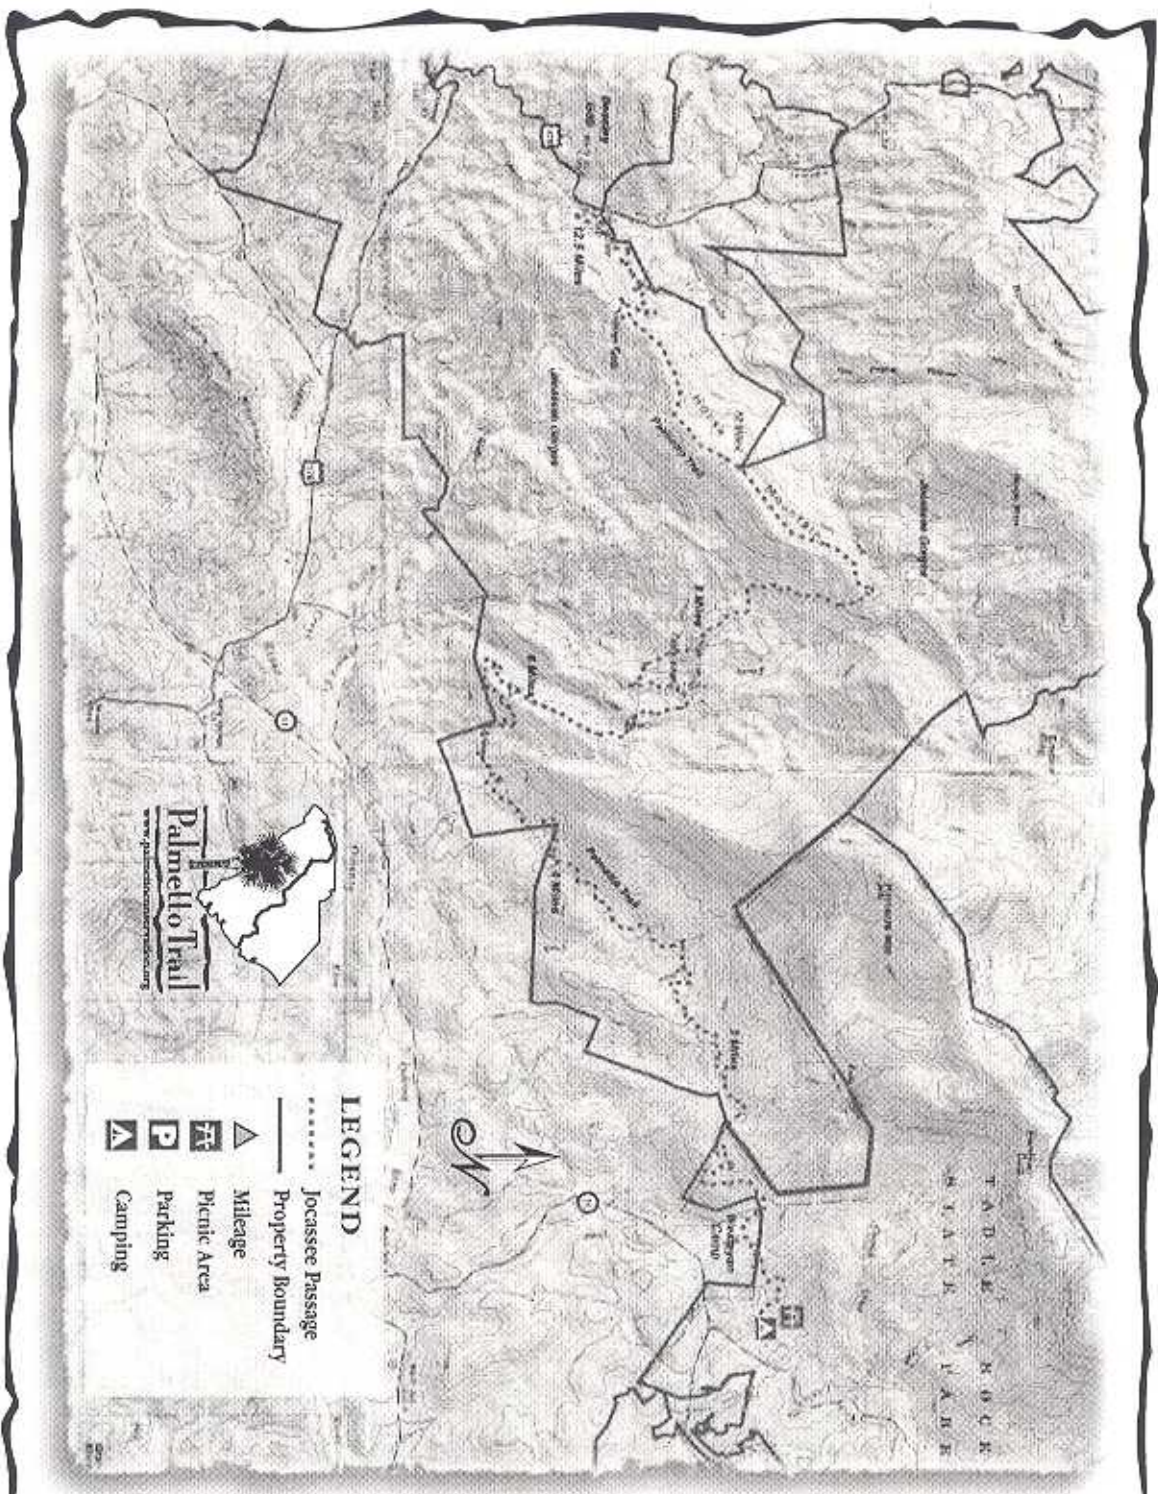

FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

PALMETTO CONSERVATION

FOUNDATION

PO Box 1984, Spartanburg, SC 29304

www.palmettoconservation.org

This 12.5 mile passage of the Palmetto Trail begins at The Barn in Table Rock State Park and travels west through land owned by The Wesleyan Camp and the S.C. Department of Natural Resources. The first two miles of trail travels within Table Rock State Park and The Wesleyan Camp. The remaining 10 miles remains within Jocassee Gorges. This trail passage features rugged mountain terrain and an abundance of native flowers and wildlife. Wildlife species include white-tailed deer, mourning doves, black bear, wild turkeys and foxes. Visitors will also be treated to mountain top vistas, waterfalls, rivers and an impressive boulder field within Jocassee Gorges.

According to Native American Legends, the word Jocassee means "Place of the Lost One." This description should not be taken lightly. The trail traverses some of the most remote and rugged areas of the state. All trail users need to pack adequate amounts of food and water.

During the past century, most of the Jocassee Gorges land was owned by Duke Power and managed by timber companies. Today, the South Carolina Department of Natural Resources owns and manages over 43,000 acres for preservation and recreation for the public to enjoy.